Part 3

Description of Expense Element (by Type)	NEW	Detailed Description of Expense Allocation Methods
1	2	3
1. Incurred Claims
		Claims incurred that are specifically identifiable to a line of business, product and state are reported fully in that line of business and product. Any reserves, liabilities or receivables related to claims incurred that are not specifically identified are allocated based on allocation drivers such as claim payments or membership as deemed appropriate in accordance with accounting practices generally accepted and in accordance with state approved regulations that are consistently applied and that are apportioned pro rata to the lines of business, and products incurring the expense.
2. Federal and State Taxes and Licensing or Regulatory Fees
2.a Federal taxes and assessments
		Federal Taxes and assessments that can be specifically identifiable to a line of business or product are reported fully in that classification. Amounts that are not specifically identifiable are allocated based on an effective rate methodology apportioned to the line of business or product incurring the expense. Each entity's effective tax rate on insurance operations is applied to the income related to insurance operations before income taxes for those line of business or products accordingly. Taxes not related to insurance operations as defined by HRIS, such as investment activities, are not included in the allocation and are separately reported such to not impact the MLR.
2.b State insurance, premium and other taxes
		State insurance, premium and other taxes that can be specifically identifiable to a line of business or product are reported fully in that classification. Amounts that are not specifically identifiable are allocated based on an effective rate methodology apportioned to the line of business or product incurring the expense.
2.c Community benefit expenditures
		Not applicable.
2.d Regulatory authority licenses and fees
		Regulatory authority licenses and fees as classified by HRIS that can be specifically identifiable to a line of business or product are reported fully in that classification. Amounts that are not specifically identifiable are allocated based on a pro rata apportionment to the line of business or product incurring the expense.
3. Non-Claims costs
3.a Direct sales salaries and benefits
		Direct sales salaries and benefits expenses are captured in cost centers and are allocated to those lines of business and products supported by each specific cost center using measures that apportion the expenses related to those lines of business and products incurring such expense.
3.b Agents and brokers fees and commissions
		Agents and brokers fees and commissions that are specifically identifiable to a line of business and product are reported fully to that line of business and product classification. Any amounts that are not specifically identifiable are allocated on an apportioned pro rata basis to those lines of business and products that incur the expense.
3.c Other taxes
		Other taxes, if any, that are specifically identifiable to a line of business and product are reported fully to that line of business and product. Any amounts that are not specifically identifiable are allocated on an apportioned pro rata basis to those lines of business and products that incur the expense.
3.d Other general and administrative expenses
		Other general and administrative expenses, if any, that are specifically identifiable to a line of business and product are reported fully to that line of business and product. Any amounts that are not specifically identifiable are allocated on an apportioned pro rata basis to those lines of business and products that incur the expense.
