SECTION A - INTRODUCTION

MISSION & VISION

Mission: to guide insurers on making safe and sound investments that yield environmental benefits throughout California and/or social benefits within the State's underserved communities.

Vision: California Organized Investment Network (COIN) shall serve as a national model to provide leadership in increasing insurance industry investment in underserved and rural communities throughout California.

HISTORY & OVERVIEW

The California Organized Investment Network (COIN) is a collaborative effort between the California Department of Insurance, the insurance industry, affordable housing and economic development organizations, environmental investors and community advocates. Assembly Bill 624 (2011) gave the Insurance Commissioner the discretion to formally establish this board.

COIN was established in 1996 at the request of the insurance industry as an alternative to state legislation that would have required insurance companies to invest in underserved communities, similar to the federal Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) that applies to the banking industry. This voluntary program facilitates insurance industry investments that provide solid returns to investors and economic and social benefits to California's underserved urban and rural communities.

The California Legislature codified COIN and states that, it is in the interest of all Californians that there is a strong and viable insurance market; that insurers should be supportive of investments that promote social, economic, and environmental benefits. California Legislation has given COIN the responsibility to pursue active measures to encourage insurers to make investments that promote social, economic, and environmental benefits.

COIN shall pursue active measures to encourage insurers to make investments to create and identify potential investment opportunities, including the development of investment opportunity bulletins and marketing and outreach efforts. This information shall be published on the department's internet website as investment opportunity bulletins. These opportunity bulletins help finance projects that address the state's critical needs, particularly in underserved, low-to-moderate-income, and rural communities, as well as environmental needs.

The COIN Program is established under Insurance Code Sections 926-926.3 and the COIN Advisory Board is established under Insurance Code Section 12939.2. The COIN Advisory Board is subject to the Bagley-Keene Open Meeting Act (Government Code Sections 11120-11132).

OBJECTIVES & GOALS

The objectives and goals of the COIN Advisory Board is to:

- The COIN Advisory Board, consisting of the Insurance Commissioner and several leaders in the insurance industry and economic development sector, provides focus and guidance to COIN, ensuring that its policies and procedures are in keeping with its mission statement. The Board also serves as a corps of ambassadors spreading the word about COIN throughout the insurance industry and the community development sector.
- The Board shall advise COIN on the best methods to increase the level of insurance industry investments while providing fair returns to investors and social benefits to underserved communities. The Board shall recommend programmatic guidelines to COIN
- The Board shall facilitate contacts among community-based organizations and community development financial institutions. The Board shall be instrumental in reaching out to executives in the insurance industry and acquainting them with COIN's mission and activities.

SECTION B – COIN ADVISORY BOARD MEETING PROCEDURES

COIN Advisory Board Meetings are held in accordance with the provisions set forth by the Government Code Sections 11120 – 11132). Refer to the Department of Justice, Office of the Attorney General Guide to Bagley- Keene Open Meeting Act for further guidance.

OPEN MEETINGS

The Bagley-Keene Act of 1967, officially known as the Bagley-Keene Open Meeting Act, implements a provision of the California Constitution which declares that "the meetings of public bodies and the writings of public officials and agencies shall be open to public scrutiny", and explicitly mandates open meetings for California State agencies, Boards, and commissions. The Act facilitates accountability and transparency of government activities and protects the rights of citizens to participate in State government deliberations. This is similar to California's Brown Act of 1963, which provides open meeting provisions for county and local government agencies.

The legislature enacted the Bagley-Keene Open Meeting Act to mandate that public agencies conduct the people's business openly so that the public may remain informed and retain control over the instruments they have created. The Act states the legislature's intent that the people, in delegating authority, do not give their public servants the right to decide what is good for the people to know and what is not good for them to know. The Open Meeting Act enables the public to monitor and participate in the decision-making process. (§ 11120)

The Bagley-Keene Open Meeting Act requires state bodies to give adequate notice of meetings to be held, provide an opportunity for public comment, and conduct such meetings in open session, except where a closed session is specifically authorized.
