WILDFIRE VICTIMS TURN TO CALIFORNIA DEPARTMENT OF INSURANCE FOR HELP

By Insight by Beth Ruyak, Capital Public Radio

(Originally published Thursday, December 6, 2018)

Butte County residents are confronting another monumental task after surviving the Camp Fire: navigating their insurance policies.

The California Department of Insurance is working to help homeowners and businesses recover erroneously denied claims and incorrectly charged premiums. Since the 2017 fire season, the California Department of Insurance’s consumer services team has helped policyholders in the North Bay obtain an additional $52 million of claims, and returned $530 million of incorrectly charged premiums and errors and claims denials.

Earlier this year, the Department of Insurance drew attention to the rising rate of non-renewals for policies in California, especially for properties facing the greatest wildfire risk. It reported that nearly half of the counties in California have about 25% of the local residential housing inventory in high or very high risk wildfire zones.

Nancy Kincaid is the press secretary for California Department of Insurance Commissioner Dave Jones. She joins Insight to discuss programs available to those who lost everything and how other people living in the wildland-urban interface can prepare for future risks. She also explains why one small carrier (Merced Property and Casualty Company) is being liquidated.

You can call the toll-free consumer assistance line at (800) 927-4357 for help with a policy or claim or question about coverage.

NATIONAL WRITE A BUSINESS PLAN MONTH - December
By National Day Calendar
(Originally Published December 2018)

NATIONAL WRITE A BUSINESS PLAN MONTH

NATIONAL WRITE A BUSINESS PLAN MONTH is an annual designation observed in December. Have you ever thought about starting your own business, but aren’t sure about what steps to take? Well, my friend, consider this a sign… We’re here to help! Every business needs a business plan, and it’s a great step in the right direction when it comes to creating your own company. Whether you want it to be your livelihood or just a side gig, putting together a well-researched and detailed business plan will make your life a whole lot easier in the weeks to come.

HOW TO OBSERVE

Create your own business plan, and post to social media using #WriteABusinessPlanMonth. (Okay, don’t post your actual business plan to social media, but make a status to let people know what you’re working on so they’re inspired to either do the same or check out your business when it’s all ready to go!) If you aren’t sure how to put together a business plan, you’re not alone. They take a fair bit of time and hard work, but when they’re done right, they’re amazing tools. Here are some essential elements of a great business plan.

1. Executive Summary. This shows your business plan in its entirety, including your business’s profile, mission, and how you plan to get there.
2. Market Analysis. This part involves thorough research on the industry of your business. It’s the quantitative and qualitative assessment of your market.
3. Company Description. This should offer information about what your company does, and what differentiates you from others similar to you if any. It would also be wise to mention your target audience/clients in this section. Who do you appeal to?
4. Management and Organization. Discuss who is in charge, how many employees you wish to have, and the basic workflow.
5. Marketing and Sales. How do you plan to promote your business and make sales?
6. Services and/or Products. Talk about what you’re selling or what services you offer, and who they will benefit. Go into detail about these products or services.
7. Request for Funding. If you need assistance with funding your business or products, mention how you plan to access those funds.

8. Financial Projections. In this section, provide financial projections for 3-5 years. How much you plan to spend, earn, and what your profit is expected to be.

HISTORY

National Write a Business Plan Month was created to assist businesses small and large, so they could stay organized, prepared, and have a smoothly running company.

Golden Gate Business Association (GGBA)
The Insurance Diversity Initiative was established by Insurance Commissioner Dave Jones in 2011 to address diversity issues within California's $310 billion insurance industry. Specifically, these efforts are meant to increase procurement from California's diverse suppliers, as well as to increase diversity amongst insurer governing boards. To accomplish these goals, the Department conducts outreach, creates partnerships, hosts events, and most importantly, administers surveys to collect and publicly disseminate information about the state of diversity in the insurance industry.
