July - In Celebration of Independence Day

What's New
We are excited to announce that general and business matchmaking registration has opened for the 7th Annual Insurance Diversity Summit that will be held on October 1 at the California Endowment in Los Angeles, CA.

The Annual Insurance Diversity Summit brings together key decision makers from the insurer supplier diversity and/or procurement teams, chief executives of diverse business enterprises, as well as supplier and governing board diversity advocates, stakeholders, and government agency representatives for a day of networking, sharing best practices, and cultivating meaningful relationships. In addition to business matchmaking, there will be a morning Resource Expo along with our diversity awards luncheon, afternoon workshops, Insurance Diversity Roundtable, and a networking reception. Continue to check the website frequently for any updates to the program agenda.

BUSINESS MATCHMAKING WEBINARS:

Register for Business Matchmaking before the deadline of Monday, August 20, 2018. The California Department of Insurance will host two (2) Webinars for Insurers and two (2) Webinars for Diverse Suppliers on how to best prepare for the summit in order to maximize your business matchmaking sessions on the day of the summit. These webinars are facilitated by members of the Insurance Diversity Task Force alongside BrandGOV.
Insurer Webinar #1:
Tuesday, August 7th, 11:00 AM - Noon PST

Insurer Webinar #2:
Wednesday, August 22nd, 10:00 - 11:00 AM PST

Diverse Supplier Webinar #1:
Wednesday, August 8th, 10:00 - 11:00 AM PST

Diverse Supplier Webinar #2:
Thursday, August 23rd, 10:00 - 11:00 AM PST

Once you register for business matchmaking as an insurer or as a diverse supplier, you will receive a confirmation message. The information and details for your webinars will be emailed to you before the days they are scheduled. Remember, registration for business matchmaking closes much earlier than general registration for the summit. Schedule your matchmaking session and register today!

The theme for our 7th Annual Insurance Diversity Summit is “Pathways to Progress.”

The Diversity Summit offers workshops on governing board & supplier diversity, as well as educational resources and networking opportunities to create and illuminate the pathways to progress in fostering relationships between insurers & diverse suppliers or business enterprises, such as women-, minority-, LGBT-, and Disabled veteran-owned businesses.

The 2018 WBENC National Conference & Business Fair was held in the thriving city of Detroit, Michigan. "The D" provided an excellent backdrop as attendees Discover the Difference that the WBENC community makes for women owned businesses.

There were a variety of exceptional educational and networking opportunities geared to the collective mission of women's business development. There were eleven workshop tracks, thought provoking speakers, MatchMakers, and a Business Fair that was 25% larger than the previous year's WBENC National Conference. This was three full days of discovering opportunities, building relationships, and celebrating the collective successes of WBENC members.

What is a VA business loan?

A veteran business loan is available through multiple sources and can be any type of financing that
Because of their time in the service, they often don’t have the kind of capital that is needed to start or grow a small business, which can involve opening new locations, hiring new employees and so on. Like many business owners, they need access to viable funding options.

Who is eligible to receive VA loans?

Any veteran, active military personnel or service-disabled veteran is eligible to receive a VA loan. But, a veteran who received any kind of dishonorable discharge won’t be able to apply for the loan program. However, if you are an active duty personnel or a retiree and within a predetermined timeframe from the date of separation or retirement, you may still be able to qualify for the Patriot Express Loan Program. Wives and widows of service members, along with National Guard and Reservists, are eligible for this as well.

What types of businesses are eligible to receive these loans?

A veteran must hold at least 51% ownership of the business to be eligible. As long as that criteria is met, almost any business can get some sort of financing or credit unless the business is a pyramid scheme or involved in either gambling or lending. Nonprofit businesses are also ineligible for these types of loans.

Now, let’s get down to the nitty gritty and go over the ways you can get the financing you need for your business.

Starting Your Veteran Business Loan Search

With over 2.52 million businesses majority-owned by veterans as of the 2012 U.S. census, they make up a very prominent number in the world of small businesses.

And, like any other business owners, veterans require the necessary funds to start and grow their businesses. A major reason many veterans struggle to even start their businesses, however, is because they don’t get the business financing they require. Luckily, there are several organizations dedicated to making the dreams of the people who really deserve it come true.

Where To Get Veteran Business Loans

Here are some programs offer business loans specifically for veteran-owned businesses.

1. Streetshares

Streetshares is an online financing marketplace built and run by veterans for veterans with small businesses. This platform connects veteran entrepreneurs with the right investors who can provide financing for their small businesses.

They have a simple application process to ensure applicants get the right investors for their businesses. They also offer pre-approvals within a matter of minutes, which can be a huge plus.

2. Military Reservist Economic Injury Loans

This is SBA-sponsored business loan program for veteran small business owners whose businesses took a hit when they had to go on active duty. If you are a small business owner who is in need of financing as a result of your active service, this program may be just what you need. With interest rates as low as 4%, this program just might be able to get your business up and running in no time. Their terms expand as much as 30 years, but bear in mind that you will need collateral for loans over $50,000.

As mentioned above, this program is also not for all veterans. If you don’t fit into this program’s criteria, there are still other programs that might just be the right fit for you.

3. Veterans Business Fund

This is an up-and-coming organization that offers various funding options for veterans. The only downside is that Veterans Business Fund doesn’t plan to cover the full amount. Rather, they will support any other loans you may have. They are not accepting applications just yet but are actively pursuing funding by way of donations with hopes to get the operation off the ground soon.

4. Hivers and Strivers

This is an angel investment group focused on providing early-round funding for startups. The only catch here is that you must be a graduate of a U.S. military academy in order to qualify.
As you can see there, are many options for veterans to obtain loans needed to start their businesses or get them back into solid financial shape. United, we support our troops.

Forbes Finance Council is an invitation-only organization for executives in successful accounting, financial planning and wealth management firms. Do I qualify?

The Insurance Diversity Initiative was established by Insurance Commissioner Dave Jones in 2011 to address diversity issues within California’s $310 billion insurance industry. Specifically, these efforts are meant to increase procurement from California’s diverse suppliers, as well as to increase diversity amongst insurer governing boards. To accomplish these goals, the Department conducts outreach, creates partnerships, hosts events, and most importantly, administers surveys to collect and publicly disseminate information about the state of diversity in the insurance industry.
