SUBJECT: New Four-Hour Long-Term Care Training Courses Are Available

Background

The California Department of Insurance (Department) recently published the Commissioner-appointed Curriculum Board's Long-Term Care (LTC) Four-Hour Course Training Curriculum.

These four-hour courses provide agents with in-depth curriculum on specific LTC insurance topics. To satisfy the eight-hour LTC continuing education requirement under California Insurance Code section 10234.93(a)(4)(B) prior to each license renewal, licensees may complete either two topic-specific four-hour LTC insurance courses or one eight-hour LTC insurance course. This training is a part of, and not in addition to, the California resident licensee's 24-hour continuing education requirement.

Note: Non-resident licensees who are authorized to sell LTC insurance are also required to complete eight hours of LTC training prior to each license renewal.

How to Locate a new LTC Four-Hour Training Course
